TECHNICAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

➤ Gender: Boys and Girls;

Only for people with disabilities.

This category is only for people with disabilities to show their ability to perform a Karate kata.

If the athlete is unable to enter the tatami or perform the kata alone, he/she can be assisted by a carrier (e.g. blind people).

Disability categories

An official ISF classificatory (medical doctor) may classify athletes at the beginning of the competition.

There are 4 classification categories of disabilities for the competition:

- Wheelchair User;
- Blind and Visually Impaired;
- People with Learning and Mental disabilities (e.g. autism);
- People with physical and other disabilities;

Judges:

There will be judges selected for Ikkaido competition and advices during judge course.

There will be additional instructions for IKKAIDO judges.

What Wikipedia says about disability:

A disability is an impairment that maybe cognitive, developmental, intellectual, mental, physical, sensory, or some combination of these. It substantially affects a person's life activities and may be present from birth or occur during a person's lifetime.

Disabilities is an umbrella term, covering impairments, activity limitations, and participation restrictions. An impairment is a problem in body function or structure; an activity limitation is a difficulty encountered by an individual in executing a task or action; while a participation restriction is a problem experienced by an individual in involvement in life situations.

Disability is thus not just a health problem. It is a complex phenomenon, reflecting the interaction between features of a person's body and features of the society in which he or she lives.

WFF - Ikkaido rules for people with disability

Article 1: Official Clothing

Competitors and their responsible persons must wear an official uniform (Karate Gi).

Article 2: Competition Area

1. The competition area must be suitable for people with disability and equipped in such a way that dangers are excluded;
2. The competition area must have a sufficient size, allowing to perform the forms without any problems;
3. To ensure a smooth presentation of the forms a stable, plain surface is required. Usually mats for tournament are suitable.

Article 3: The Organization of Kata Competition

1. The choice of a Kata is free, it should be from all styles.
2. It is up to the organizer, to merge groups because of low participation. The competitors or responsible persons are expected to be part of the decision, which is to be made in the interest of the athletes.
3. The single competitions consist of single presentations, which are separated according to gender.
4. It has to be distinguished between standing and seated groups. Furthermore, it has to be distinguished according to the degree of disability (up to 50%, from 50% to including 70% and from 80% to 100%).
5. It is possible, not to differentiate the degree of disability within the groups. The Kata presentations will be evaluated with flag system. At the end the participants with the lowest degree of disability

KARATE

TECHNICAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

(from 50% to 70% including) will get subtracted from their total evaluation. At the end of the match the best presentation will be announced.

Article 4: Jury Committee

1. For each round, the jury (5 judges) will be appointed from the chief judges or from the ground / mat leader.
2. The judges of a kata competition should not be from the same nation, national association, district or club as one of the participants, as far it is possible.
3. In addition, administrative persons for the evaluations and announcers or speakers will be introduced.

Article 5: Decision Criteria

Kata has to be performed with competence. A clear understanding of the traditional principles which are included in the kata must be visible. When evaluating the performance, the judges have to take into account any restrictions by each individual disability and have to pay attention to:

- A realistic demonstration of the meaning of the kata;
- Understanding of the used techniques;
- Timing, rhythm, speed, balance, impression and strength application;
- Correct, adequate respiration for the performance of the techniques;
- Correct focusing on the attention and the concentration;
- Correct positions with right tension in the legs, excluding e.g. wheel chair drivers;
- Adequate body tension, e.g., in the lower abdomen;
- Correct performance of the techniques of the demonstrated style;

The realization should also be valued in respect to other criteria, such as the degree of difficulty of the shown kata.

Article 6: Realization of Competitions

1. The appearance of "disabilities" is so complex, that it seems impossible to satisfy all kinds of disabled athletes with their individual competition rules. The competition rules are flexible to use. Competition rules for „people with disability“ differ primarily from general competition rules by restrictions with the repertoire of forms, because the physical or the mental conditions according to the kind and degree of disability of the individuals are extremely different.
2. With reasonable doubt about the restriction due to the disability of the participant, it is up to the organizer and in agreement with the competitor or the responsible person, to withdraw the participant from the starting list. This means that competitors which are able to perform according to general competition rules, don't have to be evaluated according to this set of present rules. Decision should be made in the interest of the athletes.
3. This form set of rules was created to allow people with disability to measure themselves in competitions in the area of the Martial Arts in terms of inclusion. The set of rules should be available not only to everybody who is organizing inclusion competitions, but it is appreciated to initiate further competitions for people with disabilities. The only condition is, that prior to the distribution, permission is granted.

Statement

These rules are under ongoing development and can change from event to event. They are made to enable our disabled people to show their abilities and not their disabilities. If it is necessary, we can adapt the rules according to the needs of our disabled competitors and not for a better performance or a higher level within the competition. Please help us to improve the live and the acceptance of disabled people.

KARATE
