INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION EXPERTS DELIVERING WORKSHOPS

The ISF Academy, in collaboration with various International Federations (IFs), conducted a series of on-site training programs aimed at enhancing the expertise of local coaches and educators. Each session was tailored by sport and combined theoretical and practical elements, focusing not only on athletic performance but also on the physical and emotional well-being of young athletes.

On April 6, United World Wrestling (UWW) organized a one-day session titled “Wrestling the Next Generation”. Targeting wrestling coaches, from youth to U17, the training focused on adapting to the evolving needs of modern sport and sharing strategies to guide the next generation.

From April 5 to 9, the Badminton World Federation (BWF) held its Level 1 Coach Education Course, providing Serbian coaches with essential principles of coaching—what to coach, how to coach, and how to plan and deliver progressive sessions.

In addition, on April 4, BWF hosted the Para Badminton National Level 1 Classifier Workshop at the same venue—the first time PARA workshop was offered. It welcomed coaches, medical professionals, and stakeholders interested in para badminton, and introduced the classification system as a key mechanism to ensure fairness and inclusion in para sports.

Through these IF-led educational programs, the ISF Academy not only provided meaningful learning opportunities during the event but also strengthened its international sports education network for ongoing collaboration. The Academy created a sustainable legacy that continues to make a positive impact on youth sport development well beyond the event itself.
